Summary

This part-time faculty position in the School of Nursing involves teaching undergraduate courses in the School of Nursing, with specific course assignments determined by the candidate's experience, qualifications, and the department's needs. Responsibilities may include classroom instruction, clinical supervision, lab instruction, and simulation facilitation. Teaching load will vary depending on course preparation requirements, complexity, and student enrollment. The position may also require attendance at meetings as determined by the Dean of the School of Nursing. These may include in-service and post-service sessions, chapel, faculty, and faculty-staff meetings, as well as academic unit gatherings. Additional responsibilities include active awareness and enforcement of institutional policies.

Essential Duties

- Develop and teach assigned nursing class, lab, simulation, and/or clinical experiences using effective teaching-learning techniques and incorporating a Biblical perspective that aligns with the mission and outcomes of the School of Nursing and the University
- Participate in departmental and institutional tasks as it relates to assigned courses, including curriculum review and course assessment
- If teaching clinical, simulation, or lab experiences, supervise and evaluate students safely in that respective setting, maintaining compliance with School of Nursing and clinical site policies and requirements
- Maintain professional competency through participation in continuing education programs and/or practical experiences
- As an employee of Maranatha, you are expected to help accomplish the mission in ways that include but are not limited to: leading the students in prayer, giving biblical advice, mentoring in spiritual matters, helping students develop Christian maturity, and teaching the Word of God. This leadership of students should be accomplished through direct communication with the students, and it must also be accomplished by the example you set in your personal life both at and away from the ministry

Secondary Functions

- Participation in professional organizations
- Participation in volunteer community activities

Instructional Duties

- Develop nursing class, clinical, lab, or simulation curriculum as relevant to assigned courses
- Facilitate student learning, provide effective instruction, and perform evaluations of student learning for all assigned courses
- Assign course grades and maintain course/student records following FERPA regulations; submit grades and records by established deadlines
- Supervise, debrief, and evaluate students in clinical, lab, or simulation as appropriate for the course

- Be available to students via email, phone, and personal conferences (contact method and hours of availability communicated to students through the course syllabus)
- Engage in student recruitment and retention efforts as appropriate, including personal involvement when deemed beneficial and consistent with institutional practices

Program-level Responsibilities

- Participate in nursing program-level learning assessment, including:
  - helping articulate learning outcomes
  - choosing and administering measures
  - evaluating student performance
  - suggesting changes to improve student learning
- Work with other faculty and administrators in developing program curriculum, standards, and policies, including participating in the APR process and the textbook selection process where appropriate
- Attend all required meetings, offering suggestions concerning course offerings, program changes, curriculum development, and other matters when appropriate
- Provide suggestions for library and equipment additions to the appropriate academic department
- Maintain a professional and godly relationship with all University employees

Professional Development

- Fully participate in the faculty evaluation process each academic year
- Remain current in the academic discipline, including maintaining licensure, certification, or continuing education requirements
- Receive training and stay current in technological or pedagogical advances that promote student learning
- Participate in college professional development activities

Qualification Requirements

- Embrace an exemplary Christian testimony of spiritual maturity in the home and a local Baptist church
- Current licensure as a registered nurse in Wisconsin as required by the Wisconsin State Board of Nursing (or eligible to obtain prior to hire), or a current unencumbered multistate license as a registered nurse under the Nurse Licensure Compact
- Degree requirements:
  - Didactic/classroom teaching: Earned master's degree in nursing required
  - Clinical, lab, simulation: Earned master's degree in nursing preferred, exception may be made for a candidate with a Bachelor of Science in nursing (at the department's discretion and pending state Board of Nursing approval)
- Three full years direct care experience as a practicing nurse
- Hold an up-to-date knowledge and skill in the MS Office suite
- Be willing to learn and use an electronic Learning Management System
- Essential teaching qualifications for faculty positions at Maranatha are stated at <https://mbu.edu/workhere/faculty-employment/>

Preferred Qualifications

- Experience in nursing and/or adult education

Physical Demands

The physical demands described here represent those that an employee must meet to perform the essential functions of this job successfully.

- Active teaching that involves voice projection for up to four hours per day.
- Clinical, lab, and simulation instruction may involve standing, sitting, and walking for up to 9 hours per day, including demonstrating and assisting students with various nursing skills.
- Mobility in multi-storied buildings; mobility between buildings; ability to transport handouts and materials to class

Evaluation

The performance of this position will be evaluated under the provisions of this description and policies of the Maranatha Baptist University Faculty Handbook.
